

On What Ground(s)?

Papers from the 14th SAHANZ Conference, Adelaide 1997

Identity in Exile

Samer Akkach.

Watery Ground: Island Architecture

Mike Austin

Townscape from the Point of View of Ecumene

Augustin Berque

Monumental Change

Richard Blythe

Vandals or Visionaries

Ursula Mary de Jong

Puzzling Architecture

Paul Fox

War, Destruction, Architecture

Tony Fry

New Land New Language

Philip Goad

Shifting Alliances

Geoff Hamer

Earth: The Groundless Ground of Architectural History

Glen Hill

The Look of Expertise

Paul Hogben

Mapping the Mackintoshes

Rachel Hurst

The Frustrations of Vitruvius

Andrew Hutson

History: From Nightmare to Daydream

Amanda Hyde de Kretser

Liang Sicheng's A Pictorial History of Chinese Architecture

Andrew I-kang Li

Years of No Significance

Mark Jackson and Stan Fung

Open Up the Forbidden City

Jian Fei Zhu

Replanting the Landscape

David Jones

Eyes, Myths and Senses in Wide Plains

David Jones

Decoration, Metaphor, Identity and Doubt

Michael Linzey

An Unfinished Experiment in Living

Geoff London

Architectural Theory Making in the Renaissance

Desley Luscombe and Jeffrey Mueller

Neo-Classicism and the Modernism of Bunning and Madden

Harry Margalit

The Urban Sprawl of Melbourne

Paul Mees

Ornamental Gardening and Architecture

Anne Neale

The Archivist's Web

Clare Newton

Neo-Romanian Housing Development

Carmen Popescu

Architectural Objects

Charles Rice

Heidegger and the Nature of the Mass-Produced Houses

Sam Ridgway

The Architectural Antimephitic

Scott Drake

A Way in the Wilderness

John R. Stephens

Grounding the Question

Michael Tawa

On What Grounds do Landscapes Mean

Ken Taylor

Heavenly Groundings: Missionary Architectural Practice in Nineteenth-Century New Zealand

Sarah Treadwell

Reprinted in Shifting Views (2008).

Te Aro Replanned, Repopulated

Paul Walker

A Critical Vantage on the City of Adelaide Plan

Michael Weir

The Architect and his Right hand

Julie Willis

The influence of Merchant Patronage on Yangzhou Gardens in the Qing Dynasty

Wong King Chi

Choral Symbolic Power

Xing Ruan